To establish a scholarship program to encourage outstanding undergraduate and graduate students in mission-critical fields to pursue a career in the Federal Government.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

NOVEMBER 17, 2009

Mr. VOINOVICH (for himself, Mrs. GILLIBRAND, and Mr. KAUFMAN) introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Finance

A BILL

To establish a scholarship program to encourage outstanding undergraduate and graduate students in mission-critical fields to pursue a career in the Federal Government.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Roosevelt Scholars Act 5 of 2009”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress finds the following:

8 (1) According to the Government Accountability
9 Office, about  $\frac{1}{3}$  of Federal employees who were em-

1       employed by the Federal Government at the end of fis-
2       cal year 2007 will become eligible to retire by 2012.
3       Proportions of workers eligible to retire are pro-
4       jected to be especially high in certain occupations,
5       some of them mission-critical, as well as in key lead-
6       ership positions. The Government will lose additional 7       employees to non-retirement attrition.

8               (2) The Office of Personnel Management esti-
9       mates that about 550,000 Federal employees will 10      leave the Government in the next 5 years, the major-11      ity through retirement, and a recent survey by the 12      Partnership for Public Service indicates that Federal 13      agencies will need to hire nearly 273,000 new em-14      ployees to fill mission-critical positions (including 15      highly specialized professionals, such as scientists,
16      engineers, physicians, mathematicians, and econo-
17      mists) through September 2012.

18              (3) The ability of the Federal Government to 19      perform mission-critical functions depends on a 20      strong, well-trained, and highly engaged Federal 21      workforce.

22              (4) Heavy educational debt and lack of knowl-
23      edge about Federal job opportunities drive many 24      students to seek employment in the private sector,

1 making it difficult for the Federal Government to re-
2 place needed talent in mission-critical positions.

3 (5) A new scholarship program to help finance 4 undergraduate- and graduate-level education and to 5 connect students directly with mission-critical Fed-
6 eral positions would help build a much-needed pipe-
7 line of talent for the Government.
